

Stack Ensembling

Stack Ensembling

- In stacking, a new model is trained from the predictions from various models
- Predicted columns act as features with response variable as the original one

Stacking

- Usually we stack weaker models at lower level and stronger models at upper level
- But, there is no such rule as to which model to be used at lower level and higher level